

Alfil Patrimonial on its way to becoming the first company to join BME Scaleup

BME's new market, BME ScaleUp, aimed primarily at start-ups, SMEs, family businesses and reits seeking a first contact with the capital markets, will welcome its first company. This is the ALFIL reit, which has 23 assets of different types and an initial capitalisation of €73.5 million.

With this incorporation, BME Scaleup makes its debut a few months after obtaining authorisation from the CNMV as a new market.

What do the BME Growth and BME Scaleup markets offer SMEs?

At the conference held at the Barcelona Stock Exchange, various participants from BME's junior markets (issuers, institutional investors, financial advisors and public bodies) spoke, highlighting the advantages that these markets bring to SMEs.

In addition to financing, there are other less tangible elements such as the transparency and professionalisation of the company, the acquisition and retention of talent and the possibility of growing inorganically through the payment of shares that give the company value and a competitive advantage over unlisted companies.

BME's Pre-Market Environment, training as a strategic asset

The Pre-Market Environment (EpM) complements its training by incorporating new partners to its programme this year 2024 where they share their experience with its companies on current topics such as the management of relations between investors and their investee companies, how to get the right shareholders for your company or the analysis and valuation of start-ups.

With this training catalogue, EpM's objective is, on the one hand, to provide companies with the training, education and networking necessary to accelerate their growth through the stock markets and, on the other hand, to provide investors with as much information as possible to help them in their investment decisions.
